

Department of History

I Educational Goal

The Graduate School of History aims to cultivate a broad understanding of historical research methods, historical thinking and learning skills, and further foster a creative and rational sense of history through systematic research and education on history. To this end, it will be subdivided into a history major (Korean history, Western history, Eastern history), a record feed major, and a history and cultural content major to cultivate professional research skills. The history major operates a master's degree, and the history and culture contents major operates a master's degree and a doctorate.

II Educational Objective

First, it fosters insightful intellectuals with a sense of history through historical knowledge. Second, within history, one becomes an expert in one field by selecting and researching an era and field. Third, based on a broad knowledge and historical consciousness, we intend to cultivate talented people in this field that society needs while developing a deep understanding and utilization of rational thinking and historical data in modern society.

III List of Full-time Faculty

Name	Position	Degree(University)	Field of Instruction	Area of Research
Lee Jin-Mo	Professor	Dr.Phil (Ruhr-Universi-taet-B ochum)	History of European	Modern history of European
Kwak Kun-Hong	Professor	Ph.D(Korea university)	History of Korea	Modern Korean History and Document of historical records
Lee	Associate	Ph.D(Chung-Ang University)	History of Korea	Modern Korean

Kyung-young	Professor			History and Document of historical records
Heo In-Wook	Associate Professor	Ph.D(Korea university)	History of Korea	Period history of korea and history contents
Kim Yoon-Hee	Associate Professor	Ph.D(Korea university)	History of Korea	Modern Korean History and history contents

IV Course Description

○ History

- HI601 Seminar in Korean History
It is a study on the subject, object, and methodology of Korean history research. Cultivate Topic-oriented problem-solving skills.
- HI602 Problems in the Study of Ancient Korean History
Explore the research trends of ancient Korean history and understand the flow of history of the times.
- HI603 Problems in the Study of Koryo Period
Explore the research trends of medieval history in Korea and understand the flow of history of the times.
- HI604 Topics in Korean History
Research on specific topics in Korean history is conducted. Cultivate problem setting and solution skills.
- HI605 Study on the Socioeconomic History of Medieval
It studies changes in the pre-modern social economy of Korea. Deepen your understanding of subject-centered historical narratives.
- HI606 History of Koryo Foreign Relations
Research Koryo history in terms of external relations. Deepens understanding of the relationship of others.
- HI607 Studies in Early Modern Korean History

It studies the changes in Korean history in the 17th and 19th centuries. Deepens understanding of the continuation and disconnection between modern and pre-modern times.

- HI608 Studies in Late Modern Korean History

Explore the research trends of modern Korean history and understand the flow of historical history.

- HI609 Studies on Intellectual History in Chosun Period

The Joseon Dynasty is studied from the perspective of discourse. Deepens understanding of the relationship between historical development and ideas.

- HI610 Study on Social History of Korean Countries

The Joseon Dynasty is studied from the perspective of local communities. Deepen your understanding of locality history descriptions.

- HI611 Studies on History of Korean Life

It studies the changes in daily life during the Joseon Dynasty. Deepens understanding of microhistory

- HI612 Topics in Contemporary History of Korea

Changes in Korean society after 1945 are explored by setting specific topics. Cultivate problem setting and solution skills.

- HI613 Seminar in European History

Explore Western history research topics, subjects, and methodologies. Cultivate topic-oriented problem-solving skills.

- HI614 Studies on the Slavery in Greek and Roman Times

It is a study of slavery in ancient Western society. Deepens understanding of the ancient social status system.

- HI615 The Roman Empire and Christianity

The relationship between the Roman Empire and Christianity is studied. Deepens understanding of empires and civilizations.

- HI616 History of Western Europe in the 12th Century

It is a study on structural changes in Western European society in the 12th century. Deepens understanding of civilization conflicts and exchanges.

- HI617 History of the Popes in the European Middle Ages

It is a study of the papal system in the Western Middle Ages. Deepens understanding of the structure of political power in the Western pre-modern era.

- HI618 History of the Two English Revolution in the 17th Century

It is a study of the British Revolution. It deepens the understanding of the process of establishing modern citizens.

- HI619 Topical Studies in Early Modern European History

Research on a specific subject of Western modern history is conducted. Cultivate problem setting and solution skills.

- HI620 Marxism and Leninism

It is a study on the establishment and spread of Marx-Leninism. Deepens understanding of various aspects of socialist thought and practice.

- HI621 European Fascism

It is a study on the relationship between contradictions and fascism in European civil society before and after World War II. Deepens understanding of civil society and democracy.

- HI622 Seminar in Asian History

Explore the subject, subject, and methodology of oriental history research. Cultivate topic-oriented problem-solving skills.

- HI623 Studies in Ancient History of Asia

Explore the research trends of ancient history in the East and understand the flow of history of the times.

- HI624 Studies in Medieval History of Asia

Explore the research trends of medieval history in the East and understand the flow of history of the times.

- HI625 Studies in Modern History of Asia

Explore the research trends of modern Eastern history and understand the flow of historical history.

- HI626 Studies in Contemporary History of Asia

Explore the research trends of contemporary history in the East and understand the flow of history.

- HI627 Studies in Socioeconomic History of Asia

Oriental history is studied in socioeconomic terms. Deepen your understanding of topic-centered historical narratives.

- HJ628 Studies in History of Sino-Korean Relations

Deepens understanding of the impact of the relationship of others on history.

- Research for the Master's Degree I
- Research for the Master's Degree II

○ Archival

- HJ601 Introduction to Archival Studies

Understand the basic methodology of archival materials.

- HJ602 Introduction to Regional History

Learn broadly about the culture and society of the region in order to deepen the knowledge related to the regional characteristics of archival materials.

- HJ603 Theory of Archival Appraisal

Study methods, procedures, and theories to determine the research, preservation, and utility value of archives.

- HJ604 Theory of Archival Organization and Description

Learn the methodology to organize, organize, and describe the informational characteristics of the archival materials from production to existence.

- HJ605 History of modern Archival Studies

Learn the development of the modern Archival Studies and its key issues.

- HJ606 Studies on Digital Archiving

Learn electronic management of records and archives in the condition of the increasing electronic records.

- HJ607 Studies on Digital method of Archival materials

Study digitizing process of historical records and research and their methodologies.

- HJ608 Studies on the Oral History

Learn the methods, procedures, criticisms, and uses of dictating memories that may go unnoticed in records.

- HJ609 Regional History and Archival Studies

Learn about various examples of archival materials in the local private sector.

- HJ610 Collection of Private Records

Learn how to collect and organize recording materials scattered in individuals, houses, academies, institutions, etc.

- HJ611 Studies on the Archival Legislation

Understand relevant laws such as the public records act, the presidential records acts, the historical data collection act and the cultural property protection act.

- HJ612 Studies on the knowledge of Archival materials

Study methodologies for structurally recognizing individual archival materials from the overall point of view of the archival material group.

- HJ613 Studies on the Korean Diplomatics

Learn the ability to understand and study the character of ancient documents in general produced in Korean society.

- HJ614 Criticism on the Historical Materials

Develop the ability to recognize, verify, and judge the evidence, truthfulness, and reliability of material necessary for historical research.

- HJ615 Archival Preservation Theory

Learn about various preservation methodologies according to the characteristics of each medium of archival materials.

- HJ616 조선Studies on the Diplomatics of Joseon Dynasty

Learn the ability to understand and study the nature of ancient documents produced during the Joseon Dynasty.

- HJ617 Studies on the modern Records and Archives

Learn the ability to understand and study the character of various recorded materials produced in modern times.

- HJ618 Studies on the Archival Metadata

Understand metadata as a concept and tool that can ensure the authenticity and reliability of records.

- HJ619 Studies on the LACHIVIUM etc.

Learn the role and cooperation of institutions such as archives, museums and libraries in view of human memory.

- HJ620 Theory of Use of Archival materials

Study the interrelationship between information disclosure and utilization services in modern society and archival materials.

- HJ621 Archival research practice

Learn how to handle archival materials through on-the-job training, from pre-investigation such as the material status of archival materials to the process of organizing archival materials.

- HJ622 Oral history practice

Learn oral methods through practical experience related to life oral histories and oral recordings.

- HJ801 Research for the Master's Degree I

- HJ802 Research for the Master's Degree II

○ Historical and Culture Contents

- HK601 Introduction to Historical Content

The purpose is to acquire basic knowledge on the academic basis of historical content. It is a study on the relationship between cultural content and historical content, the academic foundation of historical content, and the current status of industry.

- HK602 Introduction to Regional History

The purpose is to understand local historical and cultural information. It is a study on policies related to local cultural heritage, historical description, and cultural properties.

- HK603 Studies on the Public History

The purpose is to understand the relationship between historical description and public historical perception. It is a study on the process of reproducing historical descriptions in various genres and historical discourse.

- HK604 Studies on the Digital History

The purpose is to acquire basic knowledge about the digitalization of historical information. It is a study on the current status of digitization of historical data, related institutions, and web services.

- HK605 Practice for digitizing historical information.

Practice digitization of historical information. It discovers and collects historical data through basic information on digital historical records and builds metadata for digitalization.

- HK606 Historical Content and Storytelling

The purpose is to understand the relationship between history and storytelling. Acquire basic knowledge of storytelling, study the relationship between historical description and story, and the nature of the medium, which is a story form.

- HK607 Studies on the regional History and Culture Contents

The purpose is to understand the relationship between regional studies and knowledge information. Discover and research various historical and cultural contents scattered in the region.

- HK608 Historical Contents of East Asia

The purpose is to understand the current status of historical content in East Asian countries. This is a case study on the direction and current status of digitalization of historical contents in China, Japan, and Taiwan.

- HK609 Introduction to historical DB

The purpose is to acquire basic knowledge about building a database of historical data. It is a study on data discovery, collection, search, extraction, and data structure design for database construction.

- HK610 Studies on the Electronic cultural map

The purpose is to understand the temporal and spatial representation of digital information. It is a case study on various electronic cultural maps, a search for the structure of electronic cultural maps, and a technology base for electronic cultural maps.

- HK611 Historical data and Digital Platform

The purpose is to acquire basic knowledge about the platform for sharing and utilizing digital historical information. It is a study on the technology base, structure, construction status, and utilization method of digital platforms.

- HK612 Survey and practice of traditional culture

The purpose is to acquire knowledge of the traditional culture survey methodology. It attempts to link with industry by investigating and discovering cultural relics, festivals, historical memories, experiences, and people that can be used in the field of cultural content industry.

- HK613 Cultural Content Policy Theory

The purpose is to understand the relationship between cultural content and historical information. Investigate and analyze the background and implementation of cultural content policy theory.

- HK614 History Content Education Theory

The purpose is to acquire knowledge of convergence between history education and the digital environment. Research efficient history education methods using various contents.

- HK615 History contents planning practice

The purpose is to acquire basic knowledge on the analysis of historical data for digital informatization. Understand the relationship between historical data and digital forms, practice translation, image, text, and information matching, and write a plan.

- HK616 Historical Media Analysis

The purpose is to acquire knowledge of the relationship between media and history. Explore the characteristics of various media and technical media, and study the reproduction of historical information and the linkage effect of media.

- HK617 Theory of the utilization of historical data

It is a study on media matching for discovering and reproducing digital historical data that can be used in the cultural content industry and public knowledge fields, and storytelling and discourse production.

- HK618 Theory of historical data construction

The purpose is to study the theory of database design. It is a study on meta-data extraction, information form, information linkage and integration, search, and see-sorus suitable for the characteristics of historical data.

- HK619 A Study on the Historical and Cultural Content Industry

The purpose is to acquire basic knowledge of the cultural content industry. Understand the current state of the cultural content industry and study related technologies.

- HK620 Cultural genres and historical descriptions

Explore the relationship between genres and historical objects based on understanding the characteristics, functions, and effects of various cultural genres. It fosters the ability to activate the public and cultural role of historical information.

- HK621 Practicing using digital historical data

The purpose is to acquire experience knowledge necessary for the convergence of digital technology and histology. Based on knowledge of the construction and utilization of digital historical data, historical works that can be linked to the cultural industry are produced.

- HK801 Research for the Master's Degree I

- HK802 Research for the Master's Degree II